Record Enrollment Again Attained at Kent State

Kent State University announced recently that enrollment for spring 2010 is up 11.6 percent with the release of the university's official 15th-day census data for the eight-campus system. The spring enrollment figure is the highest recorded enrollment for spring in Kent State's 100-year history. Read more about the report.

New Study: Kent State has $1.9 Billion Impact on NE Ohio

To commemorate the university's 2010 Centennial, Kent State University commissioned a comprehensive study to quantify the economic contribution of Kent State and to detail the role that the university plays in promoting economic development, enhancing students' careers and improving quality of life in Northeast Ohio and the individual regions served by its eight-campus system. Davis Brings Spirit for Learning to Classroom

Walter Davis, associate professor in the School of Foundation, Leadership and Administration, was a recipient of a 2009 Distinguished Teaching Award. His unique teaching methods and devotion to his students' success made Davis a clear candidate for this award. Davis' approach to teaching includes using a student empowerment teaching model, which shows students how to take responsibility in their lives. Read more about Davis.
